Here it is!

Keepers of the Flame - The Gathering

Boulder, Colorado - Hotel Boulderado

June 16 (eve.), 17, 18, 2005

TEC is a calling, a cause, a spirit, for those who've made it a significant dedication of their lives. TEC 1010 [Chairs of 10 years or greater], and special invitees, will assemble in Boulder for deep exchange and renewal.

Our mission? Colleagues from among us will facilitate richly rewarding sessions to take us journeying through:

- Renewal at the source of the TEC spirit - not about TEC the organization -about TEC, the work
- why do we do this work
- why it is important to us, our sense of contribution
- moments of doubt - the dark hours
- moments of private victory and elation

- the real and continuing challenges - what are the frontiers of TEC for people who've been at it for a long time
- a Keeper of the Flame award - can we encourage those who exemplify the TEC spirit?

We are not concerned here with head office, operations nor is this gathering related to the TEC organization.

Venue and logistics:

Nestled against the front ranges of the Rocky Mountains, Boulder is a small city of great charm and not a small amount of esoteric influence. Home to the University of Colorado and some 60,000 students, it is a very pleasant walking city with some unique cultural appeal and some great restaurants and amenities. Weather is usually delightful at this time of year.

The Hotel Boulderado is a classic, well maintained hotel, just off Pearl Street. Our meeting room will give us a view over the central square of the city. The rooms were chosen for atmosphere, cost and location.

Airport and road access:

The Supershuttle from Denver airport takes just over an hour to reach Boulder and stops right at the Boulderado. Cost is approx. $25 each way and the bus leaves every hour. It can be booked at

Driving:

There are 2 primary routes from Denver International to Boulder - see the Boulderado website for directions.

We're looking forward to seeing you there.
